```
node6 MEM buffers <= 0.774
                                                                       samples = 100.0%
                                                                 value = [0.25, 0.25, 0.25, 0.25]
                                                                     class = cpu_contention
                                                                  True
                                                                                           False
                                              node7_VM_nr_mapped <= 0.691
                                                                                          samples = 24.9\%
                                                      samples = 75.1\%
                                                                                      value = [0.0, 0.0, 0.0, 1.0]
                                             value = [0.333, 0.333, 0.333, 0.001]
                                                                                          class = input_rate
                                                    class = cpu contention
   driver DAGScheduler messageProcessingTime m15 rate <= 0.332
                                                                                 samples = 24.7\%
                           samples = 50.3\%
                                                                         value = [0.001, 0.0, 0.998, 0.002]
                   value = [0.496, 0.497, 0.006, 0.0]
                                                                                class = node failure
                            class = normal
         samples = 24.0\%
                                             samples = 26.4%
value = [0.933, 0.053, 0.013, 0.001]
                                         value = [0.1, 0.9, 0.0, 0.0]
```

class = normal

class = cpu_contention