```
node6 MEM buffers <= 0.774
                                                                          samples = 100.0\%
                                                                 value = [0.251, 0.251, 0.248, 0.25]
                                                                        class = cpu_contention
                                                                    True
                                                                                              False
                                               node7_VM_nr_mapped <= 0.691
                                                                                              samples = 24.9%
                                                       samples = 75.1\%
                                                                                       value = [0.001, 0.0, 0.0, 0.999]
                                              value = [0.334, 0.334, 0.331, 0.001]
                                                                                              class = input_rate
                                                     class = cpu contention
   driver_DAGScheduler_messageProcessingTime_m15_rate <= 0.332
                                                                                   samples = 24.7\%
                            samples = 50.3\%
                                                                          value = [0.001, 0.007, 0.99, 0.002]
                    value = [0.498, 0.495, 0.006, 0.0]
                                                                                  class = node failure
                         class = cpu_contention
         samples = 24.0\%
                                               samples = 26.4%
value = [0.932, 0.053, 0.013, 0.001]
                                        value = [0.104, 0.896, 0.0, 0.0]
      class = cpu_contention
                                                class = normal
```